

Kitchen Ledger Plus BETA

A short deck for the gold KL Plus icon. The original Kitchen Ledger icon stays as it is.

Open Plus from the gold KL Plus icon. If that icon is already on the phone, close it all the way and open it again so this beta loads.

The pictures use the sample cookbook. After you restore your backup, the same buttons are there with your own dishes.

Have everyone reopen KL Plus before the next family sync, so a photo already on a phone stays on that phone.

Changes can say who made them

Type a name in the banner under the title and tap Save. A new dish, a planned dinner, and a grocery item will carry that name. Each phone keeps its own name.

A shelf for ideas

1. Open the Want to try tab.
2. Save a dish name, a link, and one line about why it might fit.
3. When you want to cook it, pick a category and tap Add to rotation.

The full recipe stays on the website. Plus keeps the name, the link, and your note.

The screenshot shows the 'Want to try' section of the Kitchen Ledger Plus app. At the top, there is a header bar with the text 'Your name on family changes' and a text input field containing 'Jeff', followed by a 'Save' button. Below this, there are three buttons: '75 DISHES', '0 RECIPES', and 'TONIGHT STILL OPEN'. A circular icon with a house symbol is located on the right side. Below these buttons is a horizontal navigation bar with six tabs: 'Menu Planner', 'Rotation', 'Suggestions', 'Want to try (1)', 'Shopping List', and 'Insights'. The 'Want to try (1)' tab is currently selected and highlighted in black. The main content area has the title 'Want to try' in a large, bold font. Below the title, there is a paragraph of text: 'Ideas that are not in the rotation yet. A link and a note are enough. Move one into the rotation only when you actually want to cook it.' Below this text are three rounded rectangular input fields: 'Dish name', 'Link (optional)', and 'Why it might fit us'. A thick black horizontal bar is at the bottom of the screen.

3 · IN THE ROTATION

The idea becomes a real dish

After you add it to the rotation, the dish shows who saved the idea. You can fill in the recipe later, the same way as any other dish.

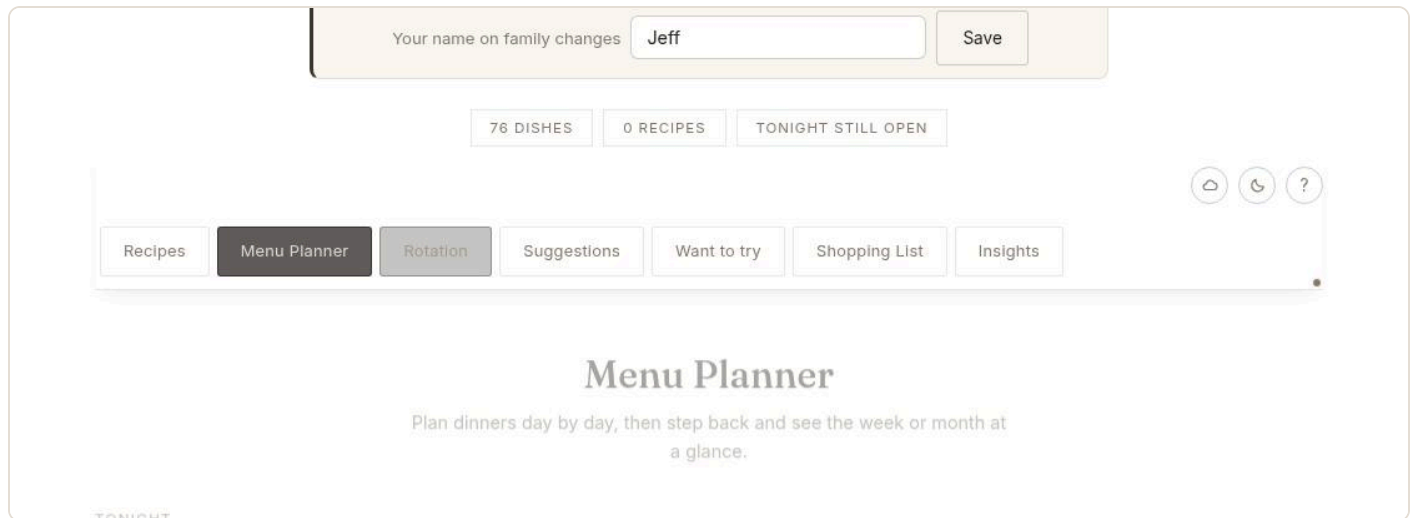

The screenshot displays the 'IN THE ROTATION' section of the Kitchen Ledger Plus interface. At the top, a light orange banner contains the text 'Your name on family changes' followed by a text input field with 'Jeff' and a 'Save' button. Below this, four buttons are arranged horizontally: '76 DISHES', '0 RECIPES', 'TONIGHT STILL OPEN', and '1 TO TRY'. A central search bar contains the text 'Miso Glazed' and a downward arrow. Below the search bar is a link that says 'Manage cookbooks'. Further down, there are five filter buttons: 'Cuisine: All' with a dropdown arrow, 'Cookbook: All', 'Diet: All' with a dropdown arrow, 'Spice: All' with a dropdown arrow, and 'Sort: as listed' with a dropdown arrow. Below these is a 'Show: all dishes' button with a dropdown arrow. A large dark grey bar spans the width of the interface with the text 'What should we cook tonight?'. At the bottom, there are two buttons: 'Export as HTML file' and 'Share with family'.

4 · REPEAT A PAST WEEK

Copy a week you already liked

1. Open Menu Planner and look at the week you want to fill.
2. Tap Repeat a past week.
3. Tap the earlier week. Its dinners land on the same days.

If the week on screen already has dinners, Plus asks before it replaces them.

The name stays on the plan

Each copied dinner shows the name of the person who repeated the week.

Fill the open days

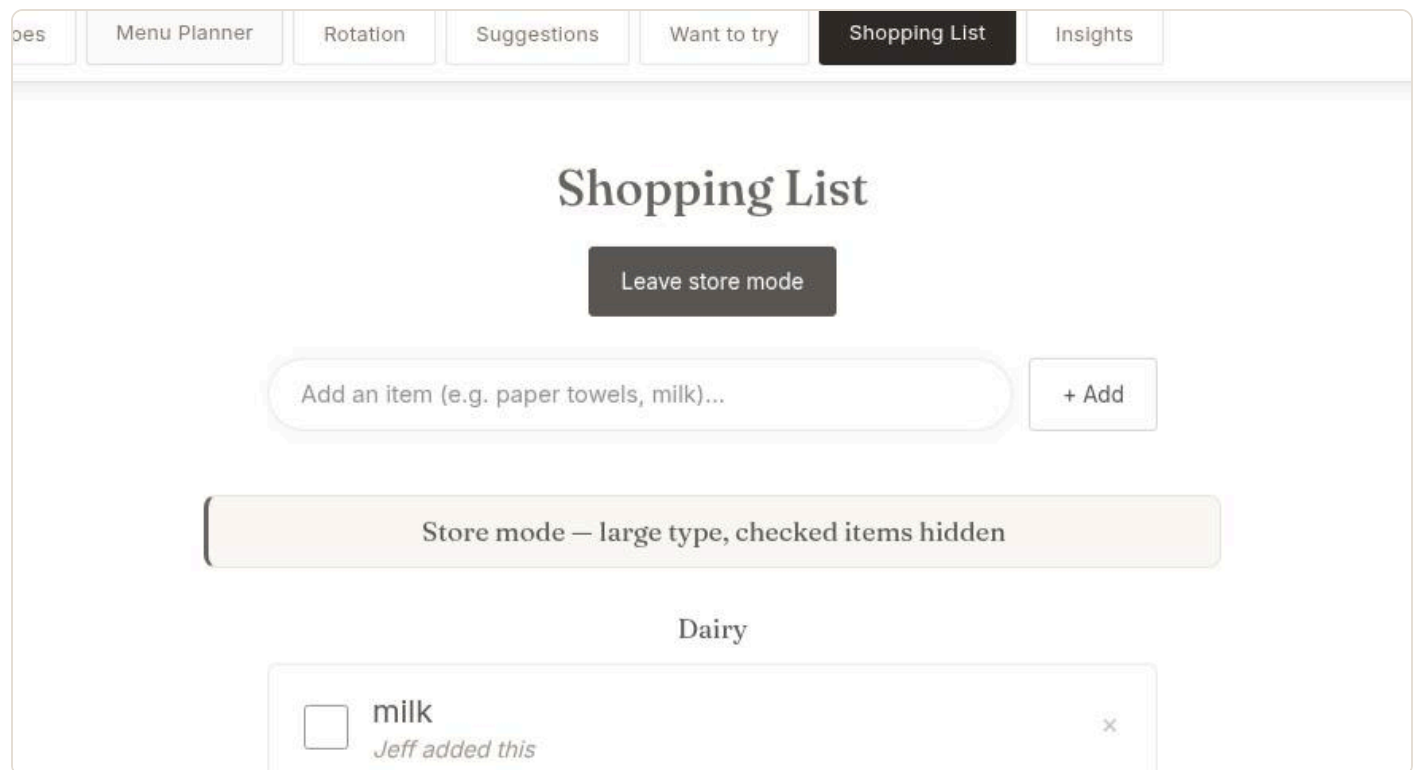

Heart a dish in Rotation, or mark that Jeff likes it. Then, on the Menu Planner, tap Fill open days with favorites. Days that already have a dinner stay as they are. Plus starts with favorites you have not already used that week.

A list you can read in the aisle

1. Open Shopping List.
2. Tap Store mode.
3. Type gets larger, checked items hide, and the menu picker tucks away.
4. Tap Leave store mode when you are home.

A new item can say who added it, such as “Jeff added this.”

Pictures stay on the phone that added them

A photo still shows on the phone that added it, and a backup from that phone still includes it. During this beta the picture is left out of the family share, so a big photo is less likely to trip the size warning. Everyone still shares the recipes, the menu, the shopping list, and the Want to try shelf.

Inside KL Plus, open Share with family and tap Start sharing. That makes a new sync code. Send the family the Plus link and that new code. Keep the original Kitchen Ledger sync code in the original app.
